

Abstract of the Disclosure

A method of inducing an immune response in a patient is provided. The method involves administration of bispecific molecules capable of recognizing and 5 binding Fc γ RIII and a second antigen. The second antigen may be a cancer antigen, a viral antigen, a fungal antigen, a bacterial antigen or a toxin. The second antigen may or may not be present in the patient at the time the method of the invention is performed.